I greatly appreciate all of the extra work the staff and the instructors put into the program. It was evident that they truly cared about each individual student. Since taking this training I have gained many valuable skills that I have used during my volunteer work in the hospital. I would recommend this school to anyone interested in becoming a CAN.

Providence Vocational School provides an excellent environment for Nursing Assistant students to learn the theory as well as the skills in becoming a good CNA. I would recommend people who want to enter the healthcare industry to consider getting training here.

Thanks all for your efforts and patience to make this happen!
